RACISTS are seeking to feed on anger and despair.

The general election will see politicians competing to scapegoat immigrants and other minorities for falling living standards.

The media relentlessly pump out racist and Islamophobic lies. This has allowed Ukip to grow and spread its racist poison.

Politicians quickly sought to exploit the shootings in Paris to ramp up anti-Muslim racism even further.

In France, the fascists of the Front National are gaining support in the polls. In Germany, racists and fascists are on the march against Muslims and immigrants.

But resistance is growing. Anti-racists are taking to the streets of Germany to challenge the racist right.

In America racist police killings have sparked outrage and the birth of a new anti-racist movement. In Britain millions of people are horrified by the rise of racism — we need to get organised.

Come to this public meeting to discuss how we can challenge the racists and their lies.

On 21 March in London, Cardiff and Glasgow, anti-racists will take to the streets to show that that racism will not go unopposed.

This meeting can help mobilise to make these demonstrations as big a success as possible.
